DESCRIPTION OF THE PRODUCT MANUFACTURING PROCESS

Is on basis of remarkable experiments made in the laboratory that Mary Jane Canarias has created a line able to offer innovative, safe and effective functionality. Undoubtedly, the use of plants and natural derivatives has the advantage of greater ease of extraction, a greater eudermic and of real effectiveness. The flowers of Cannabis sativa, as well as giving a unique fragrance of its kind, offers a number of properties for balancing our body and can be used daily. The combination of 100% natural nobles oils allows the texture and stability of the fragrance.

Thanks to the research and development the cannabinoid THC, the psychoactive element of Cannabis sativa, can not be found in the Mary Jane Canarias products except in extremely marginal and insignificant amounts (<0.2%) as certified by specifics analysis performed on each production lot. Contraindications are virtually non-existent: you could only experience problems in the event of a massive overdose of the product, calculated in use of several liters per day.

Factor of importance, in the line of Mary Jane Canarias products, are skin and physiological tolerability, in compliance with the biological and physico-chemical properties of the skin, the affinity of the formulations and properties of the skin tissue. Using within 12 months after opening is recommended.

PROOFS OF THE EFFECT ATTRIBUTED TO THE PRODUCTS

Thanks to the high content of proteins and essential fatty acids, especially omega-3, Mary Jane Canarias products allow to maintain a proper balance of cells and benefits to the organism.

The effectiveness is the result of using raw materials with a proven action, to apply doses tested, a close monitoring of the stability of plant derivatives and formulations, the ability of the active ingredients to switch from cosmetics to the skin to perform precise functional actions.
